

GOD'S MAN OR MARX MAN

Pastor Paul Blair

Quite honestly, this is a sermon that I wish every person in the United States of America could hear today. And hopefully we can get this out and make it go viral, to some extent, because this is certainly an important education.

The Sons of Issachar understood the times that they were in and knew the right direction to go politically. The Bible says there were only about 200 of them, yet they had such great influence that they were able to get all of Israel to follow God's man, who was King David. Well, we, the body of Christ, must be the sons of Issachar. If anybody should have the best grasp and understanding of what is going on in the overall historical view of what God is doing on planet earth, it should be us.

It is important that we recognize this. And quite frankly, every Christian in America, every Patriot in America and every Marxist in America needs to hear this. There are many who have been deceived and are sincerely committed to Marxism. They are just as devoted to their religion of atheism as any fundamental Christian is toward the facts of the resurrection and the principles of Christianity.

In fact, many of them are more devoted than we are. But many others are just followers. They are just following the crowd. They hear a few things here and there and they think it sounds like a good idea, not understanding exactly what it is. So hopefully this message we will be able to connect the dots.

First of all, Mark 2:14 says, "And as he passed by, he saw Levi, the son of Alphaeus, sitting at the receipt of custom and said unto him, 'follow me.'" And what happened? He arose and followed him.

Now, John 10:27 says, "My sheep hear my voice and I know them and they follow me."

This is part two of the message we laid the foundation for last week; contrasting the Marx Man versus God's Man.

To the Jew, the word Shema was critical. Deuteronomy 6:4 is literally their John 3:16 or how we would treat it. On the doorposts, Deuteronomy 6:4 was placed, and in the box on the head of the Hasidic Jews. Deuteronomy 6:4 is in the scripture inside that box.

"Shema, Israel! Adonai, Eloheinu, Adonai, Echad." Hear oh Israel. The Lord our God, the Lord is one!

There is but one God. By the way, that God is a unity in plurality, which is the choice of that word, Echad, rather than Yachid in the Hebrew language. But this word, Shema, was critical. It means to hear, but the very same word also means to do. So surrendering to almighty God in faith and trusting Him meant obeying him and living a life of obedience.

It was not the actions that resulted in their salvation, but their salvation by faithfully trusting God naturally resulted in obedient action, the same as with us as Christians. In our text today, we read a familiar term twice. It said, follow me or walk with me. Halakhah, to walk with the Lord, a Jewish rabbi, your teacher. The word rab means chief or teacher. The 'l' on the end of it makes it personal and possessive. Rabbi means "my teacher."

A rabbie didn't just hand out a syllabus on the first day of a semester. The Talmidim, or the disciples, were to walk with their rabbi, to follow their rabbi; listening to his teaching, learning from his teaching and obeying his teaching. So, as Christians, we are called Christians because we are followers of Jesus Christ. We are disciples of the Lord Jesus. We too must be following him.

Understand, it's not asking the Lord to go with us every day. It is us walking with Jesus day by day. The Scripture has given us ample instruction, not just on how to get to heaven and be forgiven of our sins, but how now to live on this earth. As John said, "My beloved, now are you the sons of God." It is how now shall we live?

The Bible covers every area of importance in human life. It covers the family, human sexuality, child raising, integrity, honesty, controlling the tongue, economics, work ethic, principles of government, citizenship, etc. Literally anything that is important has been covered in the Bible and God has given us sufficient instruction to, in fact, direct our paths.

Last week we looked in detail on what it meant to be God's man. We looked at two particular areas, economics and welfare, because those are critical to this political argument we're having today.

So what about God's man versus Marx man?

Well, let's start with this stark contrast. Jesus, when accused of healing on the Sabbath day, said in his defense, "My father works and I work." Folks, as followers of Jesus, we too are to work.

Now this is a key historical fact. Marx was a bum. He never held a job. His own letters document his wife weeping over their poverty. He freeloaded off of his father until his father cut him off. He freeloaded off of Fredrick Engels as often as Engels would subsidize him. He freeloaded off of his wife's family as long as he could. Then, in his poverty, he blamed society for his predicament.

In his letter to Engels, he said this. "You will agree that I am dipped up to my ears in a petty bourgeois pickle." The bourgeois were the enemy. The bourgeois were property owners and he was blaming them for his situation. Now, this is Karl Marx and this is in fact what the Marx man is.

Also, remember that Marx was an atheist. He did not believe in the spiritual. He did not believe in the supernatural. To Marx, all that existed was the material world. As such, there is no morality.

In order to create a greater earthly utopia, the ends justify whatever means it takes to get there. Now this is a key philosophical fact. Marx believed that man was not responsible for his actions. He's a victim of his environment.

What does the Bible say? Does the Bible say the same thing? No, it does not. It says that we are responsible for our actions. Just because Joseph was beaten up by his brothers and didn't have an ideal home and was sold into slavery, how did Joseph turn out? Joseph didn't become a victim. Joseph honored God in all that he did.

Take a look at Daniel. Daniel was hauled off as a teenager into captivity in Babylon. Daniel would have had a perfect excuse to say, "God, that is not fair. Here I am taken away from my home. I've got all sorts of excuses to fail." But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not sin against God. We do not have an excuse. We're not victims of anything. We are sinful people born into a sinful world and God has revealed himself to us in the person of Jesus Christ and offered us eternal life. As Christians, it's our obligation to obey and follow his direction.

But Marx believed that man was a victim. To Marx, all problems in human history stem from economics. The class struggle between people that owned property, the bourgeois, and those that worked for the property owners, the proletariat, was this stark contrast. Marx contrasted these two and considered them as eternal adversarial opposites. He called one the “oppressors” and the other “the oppressed.” One side was the business owners, or “the exploiters.” The workers were the exploited. The one percent versus the 99%.

Unless you understand this, you will not understand anything that's going on in the world today. Marx believed private property ownership is the root of all evil. If there was no private property, there would be no economic struggle. Man is a victim of his circumstances. It's not his fault. If we fix the system, then man is perfectible. If there was no private property, there would be no classes, there would be no bosses, there would be no employees. We would all work according to our own abilities and contribute to the common good and then take only those things that we need. There would be an abundance in such a system.

Let me give you an example that explains socialism and why it fails. (From a short video)

Why work? The founder of modern socialism and communism was Karl Marx. His vision was, from each according to his ability, to each according to his need. But does that really work? Imagine being in a college classroom. You're preparing to take your first exam of the semester. As is always the case, some students studied a lot and worked hard in preparation while others did not. After the test, the grades are posted. As you'd expect, some students earned As, some Bs, Cs, Ds, and some flunked the exam.

So your socialist professor announces, "Some of you did really well, but some of you didn't. So in fairness, I decided to take the sum total of all your test scores and divide it by the number of students in the class, and that way you'll all have a 75, which is a C and a passing grade." Well, the students who didn't study thought that was great, but the ones who did study said, Why work so hard if we all get the same grade?" So for the next test, the bad students still didn't study, but the good students said, "If we aren't rewarded for our work and sacrifice, we aren't studying either."

This time when the tests were graded, there were no As and Bs to make up for the failing grades and bring up the class average, and everyone failed the course. That is socialism in the classroom and that's why socialism has failed in every country that's ever tried it. Ask yourself, whether it be the old Soviet Union, Cuba, North Korea or Venezuela. Why is every socialist country run by a dictatorship and why has socialism failed in every country that's tried it? Socialism never works. Socialism is evil.

Ladies and gentlemen, without the possibility of reward, no one would take a risk. Without the incentive of earning more money for working harder and longer hours, no one would want to work longer and harder. This denies human nature itself.

Now beginning with this flawed premise that there is no God, Marx was obsessed with eliminating private property ownership. To do so, he had to destroy three institutions: the state, the church, and the family. He believed that all three were created by property owners to prop themselves up and to protect their property.

Now, coincidentally, according to the Bible, God established three institutions on planet earth. What are those three institutions? The family, the church and civil government. So what Marx is targeting in his economic struggle for social justice is the home, the church and civil government. The very institutions God established on planet earth. This is no coincidence. The devil is alive and well, and at war with us. This is intentional, and by design.

Number one, the state must go away. To Marx, the state was created by the bourgeois as a tool of property owners to oppress the workers and hold them down. Consequently, the police were a tool used to exploit the people. Without private property, there would be no one to exploit and no one would be exploited. Lennon opined, "Very soon, once we eliminate the state, the necessity of observing the simple fundamental rules of everyday social life in common will have become a habit." Lennon added, "The proletariat had the instinctive capacity to recognize justice on site."

So in other words, if we do away with this economic system that resulted in classes and man lived in utopia, then man would be perfectible. And man is capable of recognizing righteousness and justice, and it's just in our nature. We want to do what's right and just. Well, no, that's not what the Bible says. Jeremiah 17:9 says that the heart of man is deceitful and desperately wicked. Who can know it? What do we see in these socialist utopias, like Chad and Chaz, these free zones? What do we see? Do we see man in restraint, self-governing? Do we see this summer of love? No.

We see robbery, theft, murder, assaulting police officers, assaulting elderly people. What they propose is directly opposite to what the biblical facts and, quite frankly, historical facts are. God created the state for what purpose? You read in Romans 13, First Timothy 2, First Peter 2, Genesis 9, Psalm 82. Anywhere, the purpose of civil government is to punish evil doers and to protect those that are obediently obeying the law. Why? According to the letter to Timothy and the letter that Peter penned, so that we may live peacefully in all righteousness and godliness.

Point two. Christianity: the church had to be eliminated. Since there is no God, religion was simply a tool created by property owners to oppress the workers. Now Marx's desire was to foment revolution. He wanted tension between the 99% and the 1% until the 99% rose up in revolution and threw off the one percent.

Christianity says don't steal, don't covet, don't kill, turn the other cheek. Christianity says, love your neighbor as you love yourself. Christianity says, forgive as God for Christ's sake has forgiven us. Well, Marx believed that that was simply an opium or an opiate for the masses. Ludwig Feurbach, a mentor, an idol of Marx, said this. "The turning point in history will be when man becomes aware that the only God of man is man himself." Nikolai Lennon declared, "We must combat religion. This is the ABC of materialism and consequently of Marxism." And when asked about his objective in life, Marx frankly said, "To dethrone God and destroy capitalism."

Point three; the family must be eliminated. Marx believed families were created by property owners as a tool that evolved over time so they could accumulate their private property and pass it on to their progeny. Marx called wives property of their husband. Marx referred to children as property of the parents. What does the Bible tell us to do? The Bible instructs parents to raise their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. The Bible instructs a man to love his wife as Christ loved the church and gave himself for it.

The Bible calls what's holy, the sexual intimacy that God created and provided for a husband and wife, to be held sacred within the bonds and boundaries of marriage. The Bible says a good man leaves an inheritance unto his children and to his children's children. But with Marx, once you recognize that that's not your wife, she doesn't belong to you. She's national property. By the way, those kids don't belong to you. They're national property. The family had to go. And if the family was gone, there'd be no need to create or to accumulate stuff because you'd have no one to pass it on to.

Now listen to this. This is an actual directive in the Soviet Union in 1919, beginning March 1st, 1919: "The right to possess women between the ages of 17 and 32 is abolished. This decree, however, not being applicable to women who have five children already. By virtue of the present decree, no woman can any longer be considered as private property and all women become the property of the nation. Any man who wishes to make use of a nationalized woman" ... what do you think that means? "Must hold a certificate issued by the administrative council." And guess what? The woman doesn't get a vote in this.

By the way, you'll notice great similarities between Communism and Islam. One is theocratic totalitarianism. The other is atheistic totalitarianism. But if you just change the names, this is basically the exact same presentation that could be given. The decree continues, "Any pregnant woman will be dispensed of her duties for four months before and three months after the birth of the child. One month after birth, children will be placed in an institution entrusted with their care and education. They will remain there to complete their instruction and education." Another statute states, "There is no such thing as a woman being violated by a man. He who says that a violation is wrong denies the October communist revolution. To defend a violated woman is to reveal oneself as a bourgeois and a partisan of private property."

She's not your wife. She belongs to the state. Those aren't your kids. They belong to the state. The idea that a mother and father, or that children should obey their mother and father infers that they belong to mom and dad. Oh no, those children are not your property. So you don't need to worry about accumulating anything to hand down to them.

Again, recognize what's the goal of Marxism? The elimination of private property ownership. To do so, he had to destroy the state (the police), the church, and the family.

With that, he believed that this idea of private property ownership would evaporate.

Now, make the connection. That is why you see black owned businesses being destroyed just like every other business. It's not about black lives matter. The enemy is private property ownership, and it doesn't matter whether they are white, black, brown, yellow, or purple. If they are property owners, they are the enemy.

That is why you see white antifa anarchist communist punks cursing black police officers. The police are a tool of the bourgeois state. It's not about black lives matter. The enemy is private property ownership.

That's why you see Bibles being burned. Why? What does that have to do with black lives? It's not about black lives matter. The enemy is private property ownership and the bourgeois, since there is no God, the bourgeois fabricated this whole myth of Christianity and created these churches, and use them as a tool of the state to protect private property and hold the working man down.

That's why on the Black Lives Matters website, on their we believe page, they say this. "We want to destroy the Western prescribed nuclear family."

And notice the continuing reference to raising your children in villages. It's not about black lives. It's about doing away with private property ownership and the three institutions which hold it up.

Remember what Curtis Bowers said the other day, and always remember this. The issue is never the issue. The issue is revolution.

Cleon Skousen, in his great book, The Naked Communist, said this, "They, Marx and Lennon, decided that man is the epitome of perfection among nature's achievements, and therefore the center of the universe. But if a man is supposed to have the highest intelligence and existence, then it becomes his manifest duty to remake the world. Marx believed this task was the inescapable responsibility of communist leaders since they are the only ones who have a truly scientific understanding of social and economic progress. In their minds, it is their religious duty, their obligation to remake the world."

When you hear a Marxist say, "those children aren't yours, it takes a village." It's because that's what Hillary Clinton really believes.

When you hear a Marxist say, "That's not yours. You didn't build that. That business doesn't belong to you. That business belongs to the workers, not the property owners." It's because that's what President Obama really, truly believes.

Words have meanings and communists will always tell you the truth. For some reason, we are naive and try to make excuses for what they are clearly saying. We defend them and say, 'Oh, they really don't really mean what they're saying'. Look around at every country that's fallen into communism and you tell me if they believed it or not.

Obama's father was an open communist. Obama's mentor, the man that meant more to him and poured more into him in life than any other person, Frank Marshall Davis was a card-carrying member of the American Communist Party. His pastor, Jeremiah Wright, is a communist sympathizer at the very least. Bernadine Dorn and Bill Ayres, members of the Weather Underground that literally were wanted by Law Enforcement for blowing up federal buildings in the early 1970s, are communist revolutionaries. This is who Obama is, and this is what he believes.

Now recognize what is going on around us. Here is the strategy. Marx believed that change came out of conflict. Opposites and conflict result in "negation." His word, which means the death of that former society, and finally results in transformation, his new Marxist utopia.

These are the three stages of Marxist strategy. Stage one, perpetual conflict. When he was alive in Europe, the early days of the industrial revolution, Marx tried to stir strife with a class struggle between the bourgeois, the property owners, and the proletariat - those who have no property and only have their labor to give. But you know what? That didn't sell well in America because, under the blessings of free market capitalism, we are all property owners.

91.3% of Americans own a car. 96% of Americans own a cell phone. Two thirds of Americans own their own home. We all own property to some degree.

So the Marxist is looking for anything in which to create conflict.

How about school choice versus teacher's unions? How about gay rights versus straight rights? How about women's equality versus male dominance? How about open borders versus secure borders? How about pro-life versus abortion? How about occupy Wall Street? The 99% versus the 1%? Then of course today, mask wearers versus no mask wearers.

Then ultimately, the easiest way to foment this revolution is the race issue, black versus white.

Remember the issue is never the issue. It's not about 99% versus 1%. It's not about school choice versus teachers, and it's not about any of that. The issue is agitation, perpetual conflict to bring about revolution.

As I said a moment ago, in America, the most volatile of these subjects, which they have been able to exploit, is the ... I'll use their word, the race issue.

Marx's strategy was to employ paid agitators, to stir up direct rioting and turn it into violent revolution. He found that even in Europe, he couldn't get the workers stirred up long enough to actually revolt violently. They might go on strike for a period of time, get a pay raise, and then they'd go back to work. That was not what Marx wanted. So letting this happen naturally was unsuccessful. So the strategy was to employ paid trained agitators to stir perpetual revolution.

Now we see the Black Lives Matter founders admit that they are trained "community organizers", trained Marxists. I'll be honest with you. I had never heard of the term "community organizer" in all of my life until a young man named Barack Obama burst onto the scene in about 2006. What was his career? A community organizer.

Remember who his parents were. Mom was a communist sympathizer. His dad was a communist. His mentor was a card carrying communist. His friends were communist terrorists. His administration, he's filled many jobs within the federal government with communists who are working to undermine the current President. This is the first time in American history we have not had a peaceful transition of power from one President to the next President, there has been a fight and resistance from the day after the man was elected.

Things were going beautifully according to their plan to weaken America and integrate into global governance. They had eight years of Obama and look at all that had happened.

And Hillary, another communist was primed to take over, but everybody was surprised at what happened when Mister "Make America Great Again" surprisingly won the election.

Remember Leon Trotsky, a disciple of Lennon? He called this first phase the perpetual revolution.

They're going to keep on and on and on and on and on and on. And it's going to be 24/7 on the news because most everybody that's working in the major news networks, that came out of universities like Columbia and Yale and Harvard and all of these Ivy league universities that have been taken over by Communists 50, 60, 70 years ago, they have been taught social justice. They have been taught Marxism. So they are advocates for it.

Look at what we do here at Fairview Baptist Church. Somebody wants to wear a mask, good. Do so. If you don't want to shake hands, don't. We believe in self-government. We have met like we normally do. We have donuts. We have coffee. We hug during meet and greet. You would not know that anything is going on with the hundreds and hundreds of people that gather here every week, several times a week. We would have no idea that there was chaos out there, if not for 24/7 news. They are going to continue to hammer this until good, hardworking, God-fearing, well-intentioned people finally say, "Enough, just make it go away. Just make it stop. We give."

That can never happen!

Stage number two, violent revolution. Marx was convinced that, if man is the highest intelligence in the world, then it becomes his manifest duty to remake the world. This is a global agenda.

Again, from Skousen's classic 1958 book, The Naked Communist: "Marx and Engels accepted the fact that the remaking of the world will have to be a cruel and ruthless task and that it will involve the destruction of all who stand in the way. This is necessary, they said, in order to permit the Communist leadership to wipe out the social and economic sins of human imperfection in one clean sweep and then gradually introduce a society of perfect harmony which will allow all humanity to live scientifically, securely and happily during all future ages."

"Marx attempted to soften the blow of his doctrine of violence by stating that he would be perfectly satisfied if the capitalistic state could be transformed into a Communist society by peaceful means; however, he pointed out that this would be possible only if the capitalists voluntarily surrendered their property and power to the representatives of the workers without a fight. He logically concludes that since this is rather unlikely it must be assumed that revolutionary violence is unavoidable. Marx and Engels were also convinced that the revolution must be international in scope. They knew that all countries would not be ready for the revolution at the same time, but all Marxist writers have emphasized the "impossibility of the complete and final victory of socialism in a single country without the victory of the revolution in other countries."

In other words, there had to be no place to escape.

"We say that our morality is wholly subordinated to the interests of the class struggle of the proletariat." In other words, whatever tends to bring about the Communist concept of material betterment is morally good, and whatever does not is morally bad. This concept is simply intended to say that "the end justifies the means." It is not wrong to cheat, lie, violate oaths or even destroy human life if it is for a good cause. This code of no morals accounts for the amoral behavior on the part of Communists which is frequently incomprehensible to non-Communists."

Folks, the reason we want to reject what we see in Islam and Saudi and Iran and other places is because we just refuse to believe that could possibly be happening. It's so foreign to our way of thought. That's the reason we reject these ideas of violent revolution and the deaths of tens of millions, we just reject it. It's so foreign to our way of thinking. But then when you look at the facts, not the rhetoric, the facts. What happened in the Soviet Union? Well, some 40 to 60 million people were slaughtered. What happened in Mao's China? Some 60 to 80 million people were slaughtered. What happened in Castro's Cuba? Slaughter. What happened in any and every communist takeover? This very thing.

So first of all, continual perpetual agitation being led by paid agitators. Wasn't it a miracle that those truckloads of bricks would just be dropped off in the streets at the exact locations where these peaceful protesters were gathering? Don't think for a minute that this isn't community organized.

Perpetual agitation, leading to violent revolution, which leads to the third point, the dictatorship of the proletariat. In freedom, people own their own homes and their own businesses, and their own property. In socialism, the state owns everything, including you.

Karl Marx was the founder of communism. He believed that the ends justify the means. So lying, stealing, even murder was okay if it helped to accomplish the goal of establishing socialism and ultimately communism.

One lie being told today is that socialism is good for the people, but capitalism isn't. The truth is all economies use capital. Capital by definition is the sum of goods or services needed for production. So that would include such things as a boat if you happen to be a fisherman, or a tractor if you were a farmer, or a factory if you were in the manufacturing business. The difference is who owns the capital.

Socialist economies are capitalist economies, and free market economies are capitalist economies. But in a free market, private citizens control and control the capital. We're free to buy and sell and do what we want when we want. We're free to work where we wish and do what we wish.

But under socialism, the government owns everything, and that includes the people. The government tells you what to do, when to do it, where to live, what to eat. The government demands you work and then decides what they're willing to pay you. So what's the difference between socialism and a slave plantation? Absolutely nothing.

Remember this. He who owns the tools, makes the rules. When economic freedom is lost, political freedom perishes with it. Socialism is all about government control of everything. Socialism is evil.

A few paragraphs back I quoted an excerpt from a book, and I'm going to reference one part again. Communist leaders will wipe out the social and economic sins of human imperfection in one clean sweep, that's the violent revolution. And then after that, gradually introduce a society of perfect harmony.

Keep that in mind and let's look at this. In freedom, people own their own homes, their own businesses, their own property, have their own families, their own faith. Marx said that is evil. We need a global commune where we all live together and nobody owns anything. We just share everything, including our wives and children. This was his definition of a communist utopia.

But to get from private property to global communal living, there's this ugly necessary step in between called the Dictatorship of the Proletariat. But you don't have to worry about it because it's your dictator.

You foment conflict within the nation. Then you have violent revolution. People aren't just going to give away their businesses that have been passed down for generations. They've spent a lifetime working their tails off in order to create. They're not just going to give away their homes that they've paid a mortgage on for 30 years, they've worked a lifetime for. So we need a strong people's defense army to make sure and take away those guns and private property. But we can't give it to the people cause they're not ready for it yet. We haven't evolved into that state of utopia.

So first, the state takes ownership of everything on your behalf, of course, through the people's dictator. Now one day, as we eliminate all dissent through re-education camps or execution, one day mankind will be prepared to evolve into full communal utopia, but we're not ready for that yet. So in the meantime, the people's dictator and the state owns and coordinates everything through centralized planning. The state owns everything. The state owns everybody. The state is god.

Real quickly, people become disillusioned when they don't have a choice in where they work. They don't have a choice in how long they work. They don't get to choose where they live. They don't get any vote on how much they earn, and they're not really motivated to go to work. So therefore we have the people's secret police and the people's defense army here to help motivate you to work.

Remember, it's for your own good. It's for the good of the collective. Sadly, things never progress beyond this point to that communal atheistic utopia. Whether we look at Lennon's Russia, or Mao's China, or Castro's Cuba, or Kim's North Korea, or Chavez's Venezuela, that Dictatorship of the Proletariat always looks the same.

Now you remember when I shared with you a little while ago in that example about the classroom, how you're motivated to study because of the reward of high grades. I also showed you how the lack of reward takes away the motivation to study and all productivity of all the people falls because there is no reward for hard work and sacrifice.

Five years after the end of World War II, the Red Chinese Army invaded Korea to capture Korea and turn it communist. They always use names that are the opposite of what they are, names like the People's Liberation Army, when they're actually invading communists.

Well, there was a war. Actually, it was just called the Korean conflict, but it's actually the Korean War that America was involved in for three years. It was the first time in the United States' history that we fought a battle with politicians calling the shots. We were representing the United Nations rather than the United States of America.

Think about this; this is no longer taught in schools.

In December of 1941, America was attacked without a declaration of war by the Imperial Japanese Military. They sank many battleships, cruisers and other ships at Pearl Harbor. Some 3,500 men and women were killed that day. On December 7th, 1941, American resolve, American manufacturing, American patriotism went to war to defend Liberty. America went to war in two directions.

We came to find that my dad was serving in the South Pacific when the Navy discovered he was 16 and they sent him home, and he had to go back once he got old enough. But my father was so passionate that, as a 16-year-old boy from Arkansas, he wanted to go fight for freedom and fight for the United States of America. He somehow forged a document and they allowed him in, and he was actually serving in the US Navy in the South Pacific when they finally discovered that he was not of age.

But farm boys from across the United States volunteered. At the time our Navy was antiquated; it was a World War I vintage Navy. We only had 100,000 men at arms, and we were attacked by two forces, two foes, by two professional militaries. Adolf Hitler had the finest military on the planet earth at that time, some five million men under arms. We had 100,000. The call went out, people volunteered; the draft wasn't even necessary. We amassed two armies. Our manufacturing kicked into high gear. Within three months, we bombed Tokyo.

Within six months, we sank four Japanese carriers at the Battle of Midway and the battle for the Pacific was over at that point in time. Our manufacturing kicked into high gear. You know that we produced 90 aircraft carriers during World War II? We went to war in two directions and, in three and a half years, kicked Germany and Japan.

For those of you that have heard this garbage about America trying to control the world; we had over half a million men under arms and we were the only country on the planet with the atomic bomb. As much as man has wanted to rule the world since Nimrod in Genesis 10, America could have ruled the world, but chose not to. Instead, American Christian compassion rebuilt Japan and rebuilt Germany better than what they were before.

Patton wanted to go ahead and invade Russia. Patton was right; the Soviet Union turned out not to be our friend. They were our enemy. Within just a few years, Red China had gone communist. They had invaded Korea.

What I want you to understand is North Koreans and South Koreans are Koreans. They have the same religion. They have the same history. They have the same heritage. They have the same genes. The only difference is in 1953, from the 38th parallel up became communist. The state owned everything. If you look at a map of Korea at night, in North Korea all you can see is PyeongChang; from the satellite photo, that's the only life that you see in all of North Korea.

If you look at South Korea, look at Seoul and all of the suburbs. That is the difference between a person being able to work hard and be rewarded for their labor versus a person that's working as a slave for the state.

The free market has done more to end poverty and feed people than any other political device ever. And why? Because the free market is a Biblical concept.

When I taught on Revelation, because of my background and knowing Marx and communism; when we get to Revelation chapter six, the four horsemen of the apocalypse, I saw global communism. I've never heard another commentator saying that, typical students in the Bible are taught by other typical students in the Bible. The same stuff seems to be passed down without realizing what day and age we live in. But I see global communism. You see this slick talking world leader promising peace.

You see the white rider on the white horse; bow with no arrows. You see, disarming the people for your own safety because guns are the problem. It's not people. People who are victims of their circumstances. It's those guns. It's like blaming your fork if you're fat. It's like blaming your pencil if you misspell a word. I'm amazed that all of my guns never go out on shooting sprees. They are so well behaved.

Once the people are disarmed, then you see the red horse. You see war, you see death, you see killing, which happens every time. They disarm the people for their own safety, then they slaughter the college professors. They slaughter those that were rebelling because, if you actually committed treason and betrayed your country, well, that communist leader cannot trust you. Why wouldn't you betray him? They'll kill the preachers. They'll kill or reeducate all the dissenters.

By the way, there is a reason you drive down the quality of education. Uneducated people are easier to rule. Think back historically of the dark ages. Nobody could read. They had to trust the local priest on how to get to heaven, and the awakening came when man was able to hold the Bible in his own hands and read the word of God for himself.

Then you see this age of famine, the scales, and you see these thoughts of having to work all day for barely enough food.

Then you see the next horseman, that pale green horse, pestilence, disease, death. You see in the fifth seal, martyrdom of those who cling to the Messiah at this particular period of time.

As I've said before in recent weeks, I believe those 10 kings of Daniel 2, if you look at it, the word is not kingdom. The word is King. I think it's some of these men behind the scenes who want to rule the world type of men. You say who? I don't know, but I can tell you the type of man. It'd be a type of man that had $180 billion, like the Bill Gates and the Jeff Bezos and the George Soros.

I see 10 of those guys, and I see them putting forward their front man as their spokesman who's a smooth talker. He is everything to everybody.

President Obama was amazing. He's black, he's white, he's claims to be Christian, but he recites the Islamic Shahada. He's for traditional marriage, but he isn't. He is whoever you want him to be.

I did not say it would be Barak Obama, but a man like that. A super politician whose words seduce the crowd – words like “hope and change.” Words that sound good to everybody, but who defines them? Who is against hope? But what does that hope look like. Everyone has their own vision of hope. And we all want change. I want America to be moral and God fearing. I want to see baby murder come to an end.

This has long been in the works. After World War II, Eisenhower was elected President. Except for perhaps JFK and Ronald Reagan, every one of our presidents have been complicit to wanting to integrate America into global government.

We were accelerating at warp speed over the eight years from 2008 to 2016. Of course, Hillary, another Marxist, was heir apparent, and assumed to take over. When suddenly, to everyone's surprise, Mr. Make America Great Again came into office.

In January of 2020, our economy was rolling. Unemployment in every demography was at all-time lows. Those jobs the former President said wouldn't return, did return. Trump's reelection was inevitable.

I gotta tell you, I was late to the Trump party. I was a Ted Cruz supporter, but Donald Trump has been the most vocal pro-life president in history. God willing, in a second administration, we can actually end the murder pre born children.

Move the U.S. embassy to Jerusalem. Isn't it amazing? Every president has campaigned and said they were going to move the embassy to Jerusalem, and then none of them ever did. We can't do that. The world will come apart.

Trump did it. If Israel says that Jerusalem is their capital, then Jerusalem is their capital! it'd be like Israel coming and putting their embassy in Philadelphia and saying, we don't recognize Washington DC as your capital. Well, that's just stupid.

He issued an executive order protecting pastors and churches from the IRS because our spineless Congress would not act on revoking the 501C3 when we had Republicans charge of both sides. Do not think that the Democrats are the only bad guys out there. We have a lot of treasonous Republicans.

He reversed Clinton's crime bill. Boy, what a gift to the community that was particularly affected by it - the black community. He created opportunity zones in black areas. Oh, but you remember the rhetoric, "Oh, he's a racist." How? Where? Because he wants to secure our border? Let me tell you this. If you close your front door and lock it at night, then you believe in border security!

I don't want somebody coming in without me knowing they're coming in because it's my house. The same thing with our country. People are welcome to immigrate here legally through the front door, with us opening it. Not climbing over the fence illegally.

Unemployment was at all-time lows in every category. Does not matter; black, white, Hispanic, Latino, you name it.

Calling out Red China for the evil communist regime they are.

This is what amazes me. Obama's worth like what? $500 million now. In 2004, he was a state senator in Illinois. Wow!

Bill and Hillary Clinton are worth $500 plus million now. They were stone broke hillbillies from Arkansas.

Trump's the first president that will come into office and leave poorer than when he took it.

Think about this. Think of how the global interests that have the power, the pressure they're trying to put on this man to fold. Think of all of his assets. Where are his investments? New York; real estate, primarily in New York City. How are the property values in New York City going right now? Again, is that an accident? It could be, or it could be just never let a crisis go to waste.

Mr. Make America Great Again is hindering plans to integrate America into global communism under the United Nations.

Now we have this global pandemic originating from communist China, and we've killed the global economy. Let me give you some current numbers that I got yesterday from the World Life Expectancy website. There's 7.7 billion people on planet earth. As of right now, 727,000 have died WITH COVID. Not died FROM. Died WITH COVID.

That man just got hit by a bus. Test his blood. COVID positive? Then he died WITH COVID. That man fell off an office building. That man was shot in the head four times. Test him? Had COVID? Died WITH COVID.

We have 10,367,458 that have died from cardiovascular disease this year. We have 1,239,374 that have died from AIDS this year, but we don't say anything about the homosexual lifestyle being dangerous. We have 773,919 that have died in traffic accidents this year. 50,000 more have died in traffic accidents than from COVID-19. So why don't we have 24/7 news warning us not to drive cars?

You take 7.7 billion, our population. You take 727,000 that have died with COVID, divide that by 7.7 billion. We have 0.00009% of the population. Yet we have shut down the world economy.

Now either the leadership of the World Health Organization and CDC are complete idiots, or they've been bought.

Folks, you know one of my favorite verses, Acts 17:11, where Paul praises the Bereans because they listened attentively when he came to town to preach, but then they got in the Bible to make sure he was right. Don't believe anybody. Don't believe me. I tell you that all the time. Take what I've got and you go check it out and you make sure I'm right. Don't believe any of this stuff you hear. You check it out for yourself and see if it makes sense.

Let me ask you this. Why are one group of doctors all of a sudden villainized because they're out here saying that hydroxychloroquine works? I mean, two weeks ago they were celebrated as heroes working in emergency rooms and then they come out and say publicly, 'Hey, we've used this. We've had great success.' Now the media says these doctors don't know what they're talking about.

It reminds me of the movie Expelled. Do you remember when Ben Stein did that documentary?

If you were a scientist and you came out and said that there seems to me evidence of intelligent design, well you're black balled. If you don't just trumpet the party story, the party narrative that evolution is the answer to everything, well then, you're completely discredited. I thought science was science. Obviously not anymore. It's become political.

But think about this. I thought about this this morning and wrote this down. Looking at the cardiovascular disease numbers I shared with you a moment ago, everybody in this room, we are 15 times more likely to die from cardiovascular disease than we are from COVID-19. Yet, what have we been instructed to do? Wear your mask 24/7, breathe in all that CO2 you can. Order fast food, don't go to the gym. THINK!

And don't go to the doctor unless you have COVID-19. Who's running the World Health Organization, the Keystone cops?

Recently we've seen rioting in Minneapolis. These are protestors in Minnesota. Listen to what they're saying here, because remember it was all about black lives matter. It's all about, oh we just want justice, social justice. Okay? Listen to this little short segment.

“Resistance is justified; from New York to Palestine, from Gaza to Minnesota, to mobilize the intifada. Black lives matter.”

They're saying Black lives matter and Palestinian lives matter. Globalize the Intifada. Intifada is revolution. Isn't it amazing how quickly this has caught on around the world?

Now this next chant was from New York City. And again, listen to this group of protesters.

“Black lives matter. Black lives matter. Black lives matter. Palestinian lives matter. Palestinian lives matter. Palestinian lives matter. Palestinian lives matter. Black lives matter. Black lives matter. From the river to the sea, Palestine will be free.”

It's no longer just black lives. It's Palestinian lives. They're chanting from the river, that's the Jordan River, to the sea, the Mediterranean Sea, Palestine will be free. In other words, they want to eliminate Israel. Wait a second. I thought this was about George Floyd.

It's also interesting, as you consider with all this rioting and burning and destruction, everybody's required to wear masks. Isn't that convenient timing when trying to identify people that are out breaking the law, burning buildings down and committing heinous crimes. Everybody is required to wear masks. Perhaps this is just a coincidence. I don't think so. I think this whole thing is orchestrated.

In 86 days, we decide the future for America. We say this every two years, every four years, Oh, this is most important election in our lifetime. Folks, this really is the most important election of our lifetime.

This is not a vote between Trump and Biden. Think about it. We've got two 70 plus year old white guys. In fact Biden is almost 80 and he's got dementia. This is not about Trump and Biden. This is a vote to continue to live in freedom. By the way, when we win this election in November, and we will, not everybody is asleep as the media wants you to believe they're asleep, and who in the world is going to answer a poll and say, I'm a Trump supporter, when you run the risk of having a mob in your front yard to burn your house down the next day?

We've got a lot of hardworking people providing for their families, keeping their heads down and peddling real hard. But when we win this election in November, we must be adamant about ferreting out and driving out all of these communists and communist sympathizers from within our government.

I don't know how Mr. Trump has done what he has done in three and a half years. I've got to tell you, the average person would have committed suicide by now. The man is attacked every day.

We must restore federalism. If we've got some liberal goofballs that want to live in a state of anarchy in the state of Washington, good for you. We'll build a wall around your border.

We have conservative states and we have liberal States. Great. We come together for our common defense and our general welfare, but we are not to be ruled by a single imperial president or a Supreme Court. The general (federal) government is limited by the Constitution. Only certain limited powers were given to the federal government by the states. States can be states and decide what goes on within their own borders.

If California wants to have a 50% income tax, by the way, isn't that working well for New York with their billionaire tax? Now Cuomo, as billionaires are fleeing New York City, is begging them to stay. I read the other day that Jeff Bezos alone would be writing a check for $46 billion if they passed the billionaire tax.

Let me ask you this, are you going to move? Like I said before, a simple economic practice. If you want to end something, tax it. If you want to increase something, subsidize it. So what do we do? We subsidize women to have children out of wedlock and we tax at a higher rate businessmen and businesses the more successful they are. That is ludicrous.

In 86 days, we have a choice.

If Christians will go and vote like Christians, then we can fend off this well-orchestrated planned assault on our liberty, and, God willing, if Jesus tarries and the trumpet doesn't sound before then, we can see a revival and a reawakening and a resurgence towards biblical common sense, conservative values in America.

I want God's blessings on America. May America be worthy of God's blessings.
